

MOORE GOES TO P. SENATE OVER COTTON PROBE

The committee was not seeking the evidence of Gov. Cox's charges. "I did not," the witness exclaimed. "I did not need to get angry," Senator Kenyon said.

"I am not getting angry. What I said was that you were not seeking the best evidence. And I say it again. You are not."

Gov. Cox has no evidence in support of his charges against Moore, the witness said. As he spoke he unfolded a mass of briefs, notes and other papers that he had apparently secured several hundred sheets.

"Did you say," the committee wants to know, "that you are not going to get the men here who will prove the falsity or truth of Gov. Cox's charges in 10 hours?" asked Senator Kenyon.

"Well, if I did not say it then, I say it now," the witness replied.

"Victim of Mistakes." Mr. Moore said he was sure that Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican national committee, would not testify to the truth, but he was equally sure the Republican official was a victim either of mistakes or had bookkeeping errors. He testified that the committee did not know that what he knew.

"You can question him in your own way when you turn him over," retorted the Iowa senator, and he then read charges from Gov. Cox's "Choking" speech to the effect that "powerful interests" were scheming to buy government control over the cotton market. He said that so far as Republican contributions were concerned, "the sky is the limit" and that he had been told that $500,000 had been raised in Ohio "in the twinkling of an eye."

In answering Senator Kenyon's question for names of men who knew about the Ohio fund, Mr. Moore went into long explanation of the understanding of the Republican campaign fund organization. He said it was headed by John Thompson, who was then chairman of local ways and means committee.

He said Fred Miller, of Columbus, was chairman in Ohio and that, like other state chairmen, he had been a chairman of local ways and means committee.

"I found that usually in Ohio these local chairmen were manufacturers," said Mr. Moore.

"But these local organizations were largely 'scenery'. The real workers for funds were paid men," declared Harry W. Blair, assistant to Mr. Upham.

He said Blair had under him "several" divisional divisions and that two of them were C. W. Lee and Henry E. Owen.

"These are the professional money raisers," said Mr. Moore.

"In Iowa they are called Irving Norwood, of Davenport," said Mr. Moore.

"That is not the man," interjected Mr. Upham, who from the side lines was an interested listener.

"Well, Mr. Norwood, give me the name of the Iowa director," said Mr. Moore. He then named John Kelly, of Chicago, and Charles H. Mavety, of Washington, as other paid directors.

Memphis Cotton Expert Back From Europe Predicts New Crop Will Sell For 40 Cents

Unless conditions change cotton will sell around 40 cents for middling upland for the new crop. Owing to the lateness of the crop there will be some loss, probably forcing the yield below government estimates. Exports of cotton earlier than usual, there will be an enormous amount of damage done.

These are opinions advanced by Charles C. Ferrall, cotton buyer, on his return from a three months' tour of European markets.

In explaining his prediction of 40 cents for cotton, he said that the price was maintained. If the cotton is late and short, it will depend solely on the holding ability of the cotton factors. In no event are prices expected to drop below the present level.

As a whole, Mr. Ferrall declares conditions in Europe generally are optimistic and that trade with America will show a satisfactory increase over the past year. He is particularly optimistic about the situation in France.

Mr. Ferrall visited England, France, Spain, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, Germany and other countries, holding conferences and making a study of the cotton situation in each country.

In Other Lands.

France—Optimism exists over the situation. They have a quantity of cotton on hand and with the addition of the late crop, they will be able to meet the demand for French cotton. The French government is working to increase the production of cotton.

Spain—The country is prosperous. More building is going on in Madrid than any other city of Europe. The cotton situation in Spain is optimistic. The Spanish government is working to increase the production of cotton.

Italy—Mr. Ferrall stressed advantages of Italian spinners in the use of hydro electric power. He also pointed out where Italy has the advantage of the great Balkan and Mediterranean trade which none of the foreign countries have been able to break in upon to any extent. Prices are much lower than in many other sections, and it is estimated that the country will take its normal quota of about 800,000 bales from America.

Germany—More real optimism is shown in Germany than in any other section and more than 80 per cent of the mills are operating at capacity.

Belgium—The country is prosperous and sentiment is optimistic. Mr. Ferrall was the disposition of higher bursar in Belgium. He pointed out that the country is working to increase the production of cotton.

Switzerland—The country is prosperous and sentiment is optimistic. Mr. Ferrall was the disposition of higher bursar in Switzerland. He pointed out that the country is working to increase the production of cotton.
